USING THIS YARDAGE BOOK

Before you start your next round of golf take a moment to look through this yardage book. Pay attention to the hazards, playing tips, and basic yardage information to help yourself get a feel for the course. When you go to play each hole review the playing tip for helpful hints. Look for landmarks like trees, bunkers, or curves in the fairway to align your shots with and reference the yardage measurements as a tool to help you decide which clubs will be best to use. As you play the hole, you can make notes on the pages of this book for yourself. Next time you come to play our course, you will have a personalized guide to playing your best!

READING

THE GREENS

Putting is the downfall of many otherwise great golfers. One thing that commonly trips people up is the grain of the green. The grain refers to the direction that the grass is growing, generally towards the setting sun.

Once you are on the green take a look at your ball and the surrounding grass. Move in a circle around your ball until you notice the grass looks shinier or lighter behind your ball; this indicates you are looking in the direction of the grain. When putting against the grain your ball will move an average of 25-50% slower; with the grain, that much faster; and across the grain (neither with or against but rather at an angle) your ball is likely to veer to the side regardless of the slope of the green.

Although it may take some practice, learning the grain of a green before you putt is sure to take a stroke or two off your final score.

Hole Number ONE

The opening hole is the longest of the Par 5s on the course. An accurate tee shot is required with water/thick rough lining on the left and a tree-line/canal on the right. A set of bunkers guard the front and left side of the green, making the approach shot into the green more manageable from the fairway or the left-hand side.

Hole Number
THREE

A strategic Par 4 where finding the fairway is paramount. Fairway bunkers line both sides of this hole with the canal far-right and O.B. far-left. A pond is present just past the fairway bunker to the left, grabbing balls hit too far down the left-hand side as the fairway funnels downhill towards it. Sacrifice distance for accuracy or risk trouble on both sides.

Every tee shot at Stonebridge presents a new challenge and the most difficult might be here. Course management is needed for any potential shot on this hole. From the strategically placed fairway bunkers, the O.B. right and the canal left, just finding dry land is acceptable. The raised greens are tricky to navigate with sloping contours in every direction. Avoid the canal to your left and the deep bunkers to the right on your approach to survive the tough 4th.

A narrow, dog-leg left Par 4 with a treacherous visual from the tee box. There is little margin for error with houses and O.B. markers stretching on both sides of the hole from tee box to green. Fairway bunkers further complicate your club choice. The green and greenside waiting for you has a lot of undulation which makes for hard-to-read chips and putts. Play the 6th with caution.

The further right, the better the angle into this green. Hole 9 is closely guarded by a large front bunker and water to the right which swings to the back side of the green as well. Layups are best negotiated to the right side of the fairway to avoid the left tree line.

MAINTAINING THE COURSE

REPAIRING BALL MARKS

Correctly repairing ball marks not only restores a smooth surface and helps keep grass healthy — it is part of our obligation to the game and to help take care of the courses we play. Immediately and correctly repairing ball marks helps grass on the greens recover much faster, but failing to do so leaves an unfixable blemish that will take weeks to heal. These simple steps take just seconds and help keep our course well maintained and in top shape.

STEP ONE Discard turf that is not attached. Insert tool forks on high side of ball mark and pull sod slightly down and toward the center of the ball mark.

STEP TWO Bring edges of mark together by gently twisting sod toward the middle of mark. Do not lift the center of the ball mark. Lifting center results in dead spots on the green that take weeks to heal.

STEP THREE After the turf has been re-established with grass on top of the mark, smooth the surface by gently tapping down with putter head or foot.

MAINTAINING THE COURSE

RAKING SAND TRAPS

Finding yourself in a bunker is enough of a challenge without the added difficulties of a bad lie in an old footstep. Follow these easy steps for quick bunker-grooming and your fellow golfer will thank you!

STEP ONE Enter the bunker from the point that's closest to your ball, but most level to the adjacent playing surface. Exit the bunker along the same path as you entered to reduce the amount of raking.

STEP TWO Avoid climbing on steep bunker faces (you can damage the lip of the bunker and displace too much sand).

STEP THREE Be careful not to pull excess sand to the lip of the bunker. Alternate between pulling sand toward you and pushing it back. This will create a relatively even surface without displacing too much sand.

STEP FOUR After raking, place bunker rake inside the bunker, parallel to the line of play.
